

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a cell-array region, bit-line contacts are self-aligned between the gate electrodes of adjacent gate transistors, with a first side insulating film
5 interposed between each bit-line contact and the gate electrode of one transfer transistor. One end of each bit-line contact directly contacts the drain region of the transfer electrode.